

Top Legal Team 'Gearing Up' to Hit Pfizer with Lawsuits

Dr. Naomi Wolf, author and political advisor, said the best legal team in the country is gearing up to hit Pfizer with lawsuits. Wolf, on June 10, joined Steve Bannon's War Room to discuss the strategy.

Wolf said Leslie Manookian and her "A-team of lawyers" is "suing Pfizer on our behalf."

Manookian is president and founder of Health Freedom Defense Fund (HFDF), a non-profit organization that successfully took on the Biden Administration's travel mask mandate promulgated by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) – and won.

HFDF describes itself as a "nonprofit which seeks to rectify health injustice through education, advocacy and legal challenges to unjust mandates, laws and policies that undermine our health freedoms and human rights."

"Pfizer and the FDA are racing to roll out the emergency use authorizations for COVID-19 vaccines to shield themselves from liability, Wolf said. "So if you can fold it in under EUA it's harder to sue them."

Wolf explained:

"We've also learned it's harder to sue the FDA in spite of their public comment, which I think is window dressing because you have to exhaust all kinds of internal remedies before you can sue them."

"So that's why I agree with her strategy. We're going after Pfizer first as a private corporation and also, thank God our lawyers are aligning with 20 Attorneys General who have supported them in the past around the mask mandates."

"The Attorneys general can bring criminal charges and what the lawyers have found abundantly is that there are civil and criminal causes of action."

Wolf said she believes the White House is being held hostage by China, and Americans need to face that reality.

"My own reporting found that Pfizer and BioNTech are Chinese and German companies. They're not just German companies," Wolf said. "That 100% tech transfer in the SEC filing went from BioNTech – which makes the mRNA vaccines – to China at the end of 2021. So now this whole thing is Chinese and the CCP is involved in it. This is clearly a national security breach and we can't trust our health agencies."

Wolf said, attorneys are representing Daily Clout volunteers and "they're the best legal team in the country for this type of work."

"There's nothing like having the best team in America that already have this huge win to get masks off you and your kids when you travel on public transportation,” Wolf added.

As for their causes of action, Wolf said she had to be careful what she discloses, although she confirm the lawsuit will be filed with various civil causes of action.

“They found fraud. They found racketeering, conspiracy to commit fraud, and battery, in addition to an investor lawsuit because it looks like Pfizer lied to the SEC,” Wolf said. “Clearly, the internal documents do not compare in any way and do not disclose in any way the harms and dangers.”

HFDF took on travel mask mandates and won

Health Freedom Defense Fund on July 12, 2021, filed a suit against the Biden administration over its federal travel mask mandate. On April 18, a judge overturned the mandate.

President Biden signed an executive order on his first full day in office making masks mandatory and the CDC promulgated the order just eight days later in the name of a “public health emergency.”

Since early 2021, anyone traveling on a plane, bus or train, or anyone who used a shared ride service – or even walked into an airport or train station – was forced to wear a face mask.

“With assistance from our lawyers at the Davillier Law Group, we learned there is no federal law compelling masks for travel,” Manookian wrote in an article describing the case. “The CDC does not have the statutory authority to issue a sweeping mandate requiring masking. Nor does the agency have the authority to penalize Americans for non-compliance.”

The CDC gave no scientific justification for the order and didn't provide the required notice and comment period. In addition, the U.S. Constitution does not grant the president power to enact nationwide edicts just because Congress failed to pass legislation he wanted.
